

REDDCOIN COMMUNITY LOGO USE

Permission for community-created merchandise

ReddCoin is an open-source community project, and we want community members to be able to create and wear ReddCoin merchandise.

Permission is hereby granted to members of the ReddCoin community to use the official ReddCoin logo on personal or community merchandise, including shirts, provided the use follows the guidelines below.

Simple guidelines

- Use the official ReddCoin logo and keep it recognizable.
- Do not distort, alter, or modify the logo in a way that changes its identity.
- Do not use the logo to suggest that a product, business, service, or person is officially endorsed or sponsored by ReddCoin unless that has been separately agreed.
- Community members may make merchandise for themselves and may produce or sell community merchandise, provided it is not presented as an official ReddCoin product or official ReddCoin store.
- Do not claim ownership of the ReddCoin name or logo, or register the logo or a confusingly similar mark as your own.
- Please follow the official ReddCoin brand guidelines when reproducing the logo.

In short: If you are part of the ReddCoin community and want to put the ReddCoin logo on a shirt, wear it, or make community merchandise, you have our permission. Just use the official logo responsibly and do not present your merchandise as an officially produced or endorsed ReddCoin product.

Official brand resources

Use the official ReddCoin brand resources for the current logo files and brand guidelines.

This document is also hosted on our official website at <https://brand.reddcoin.com/>